

JOSH MCCORMACK

True nobility lies in being superior to your former self.
Ernest Hemingway

OBJECTIVE

After graduation, my goal is to enter the publishing field and use the variety of skills I have gained at periodicals and small publishers to contribute in the publication of bodies of work, professional or creative.

CONTACT

936-827-9651

806 Blanco Ln,
Bryan, Texas 77801

josh-mccormack.com

watchesoff@gmail.com

SKILLS

EDITORIAL & WRITING

LEADERSHIP

MICROSOFT OFFICE

TEAMWORK

ADOBE CREATIVE SUITE

COMMUNICATION

SOCIAL MEDIA & MARKETING

WORK EXPERIENCE

EDITORIAL INTERN @ THE BATTALION

December 2015 - Present

At Texas A&M's daily newspaper as the Life and Arts editor, I lead a team of student reporters to produce daily content. During our production cycle I write, read, copyedit, page design, and publish stories online. The Battalion has circulation of 10,000 and a social media following over 20K.

EDITORIAL INTERN @ BRIGHT SKY PRESS

May 2016 - September 2016

During my internship at a regional publisher, I handled projects in production, editorial, sales, and marketing. I was responsible for communications with authors and potential authors, and wrote and published regularly on all social media channels to promote Bright Sky Press and their authors.

ASSISTANT TO THE EDITOR @ CALLALOO

June 2016 - September 2016

As an Assistant to the Editor, I was responsible for contributing in editorial, design, communication with artists and authors, and using FastTrack Manuscript software, scrubbed, reviewed, and assigned submissions to referees and screeners.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Prose Editor @ The Eckleburg Project

August 2015 - Present

As Prose Editor I lead a team that reads and critiques student submitted pieces of prose and poetry. I then review my speciality, prose, to pass to the editor. I attend weekly meetings where the officer board discusses and plans the future of the magazine. I took part in crafting a journal that helped students to be published and promoted an art community.

EDUCATION

ENGLISH & JOURNALISM @ TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

August 2014 - December 2018

Studying both English and Journalism as a I have studied, rhetoric, style, literature, editing, and reporting as well as other core subjects that have readied me for the business world. I have learned how to balance school, work, and organizations while maintaining healthy friendships and downtime. Being a Liberal Arts Student at Texas A&M has prepared me for a career as a professional.

REFERENCES

Lauren Adams Gow - Editorial Director @ Bright Sky Press
lauren@brightskypress.com - (713) 533-9300

Doug Pils - GM of Student Media @Texas A&M University
dpils@tamu.edu - (979) 845-3315

Kelly Robbins - Editor @ CALLALOO
kelannrob@tamu.edu - (979) 458-3108